

Table 5 – English language proficiency

The following table refers to requirements for undergraduate courses only. Different requirements may apply for postgraduate courses.

Do I have to demonstrate proficiency in English?

If you DO NOT have an assessable qualification that was undertaken in English from one of the following countries, you must provide proof of English proficiency:

- American Samoa
- Australia
- Canada
- Fiji
- Ireland
- Kenya
- New Zealand
- Papua New Guinea
- Singapore
- Solomon Islands
- South Africa
- United Kingdom (including Northern Ireland)
- United States of America
- Zambia.

Being born in Australia or one of the countries listed does not automatically pass you for English proficiency. You must also have at least one assessable qualification from one of the countries listed.

What is an assessable qualification?

Assessable qualifications from the countries listed above that may be accepted by institutions as satisfying English proficiency include:

- senior secondary studies, comparable with the NSW HSC
- one full year of Australian or comparable tertiary studies, including RATE Associate diploma and diploma, Associate degree, Bachelor degree and postgraduate studies
- completed AQF diploma and Advanced diploma
- Australian or comparable non-award studies and tertiary preparation courses, including NSW TAFE Tertiary Preparation Certificate (TPC), with a full-time equivalence of one year.

The following qualifications may also be accepted by institutions as satisfying English proficiency if you were born in and undertook the qualification in one of the countries listed above:

- other post-secondary studies, including certificate and advanced certificate
- Special Tertiary Admissions Tests (STAT)
- studies undertaken through professional organisations, including hospital-based training and armed forces training.

What do institutions accept as proof of proficiency in English?

In the table on the following pages, institutions have outlined the tests and qualifications they accept as proof of proficiency in English. Read these requirements carefully.

Are there other tests and qualifications the institutions accept?

There may be other tests and qualifications that institutions accept. Check the 'Additional test and qualifications for English proficiency' table, available on UAC's website at www.uac.edu.au/undergraduate/admissions/elp.shtml.

What if I don't have the required tests or qualifications?

If you don't have the required tests or qualifications, you can sit an English proficiency test (see below for details on how to register). If you need to sit a test, submit your UAC application first and include details of your proposed test in the English language proficiency question. Provide UAC with a verified copy of your results as soon as you receive them.

What if I believe I can demonstrate my proficiency in English but cannot find the test or qualification in the following table or on UAC's website?

If you believe that you can demonstrate your proficiency in English but your tests or qualifications aren't mentioned in the following table or on UAC's website, contact the Admissions Office at each institution to which you are applying.

Don't send this information to UAC – we cannot make decisions about your English proficiency on behalf of institutions.

Write to the Admissions Office at each institution to which you are applying and include supporting documentation so that the institutions can determine whether the test or qualification is acceptable. The institutions will make a decision and will record that decision against your application.

How do I register for an English proficiency test?
