

ATAR cut-offs for Early February round offers 2010 admissions

Key to cut-offs

For 2009 Year 12 applicants, institutions have released the lowest Australian Tertiary Admission Rank* (ATAR) required for selection into each course. These minimum ATARs or cut-offs are shown in the following table.

All courses (with the exception of one domestic fee-paying or DFEE course) are Commonwealth-supported place (CSP) courses.

The cut-offs apply to domestic applicants only; the cut-offs for international applicants may differ from those shown.

Some 2009 Year 12 applicants may receive an offer to a course even though they have a ATAR below the ATAR published as the cut-off for the course. In such cases, the institution concerned has used other selection criteria in addition to or instead of the ATAR, for example by awarding bonus points. The cut-offs include bonus points so that each ATAR cut-off listed is the lowest rank (including any bonus points) required for entry into each course.

For non-current Year 12 applicants, the ATAR cut-offs do not generally apply. Institutions may take any or all of the following into account when considering your application – tertiary studies, secondary studies, post-secondary studies and other relevant factors such as employment history and special circumstances.

If N/A appears instead of a cut-off, a cut-off is not applicable because either selection criteria other than or in addition to the ATAR are used or the course is not offered to 2009 Year 12 applicants.

Courses to which no offers have been made on the basis of 2009 Australian Year 12 results are shown on the course list with an asterisk (*) in place of a ATAR cut-off.

ATAR cut-offs in the Early February Round may differ from the ATAR cut-offs used in the Main Round. Offers may not have been made in all courses in the Early February Round.

 In June 2009 the Universities Admission Index (UAI) became the Australian Tertiary Admission Rank (ATAR). For more information visit www.uac.edu.au/undergraduate/atar*

Vacancies

A letter 'V' shown in brackets after the cut-off indicates that some places may be available in the Final Round. Vacancies could also arise in some courses not marked 'V'. This will not be known until after acceptances to Early February Round offers have been received and no guarantee is given that further offers will be made.

If you applied for a course marked with a 'V' and you were not made an offer, your qualifications may not have been sufficient to gain entry into the course in the Early February Round.

Do not rely on receiving a Final Round offer. If you have a Early February Round offer, you are advised to accept that offer. Even if you accept an earlier offer, you can still receive another offer in a later round. If you prefer the later offer, you can then accept that offer and withdraw from the earlier offer.

Late applications

UAC is accepting late applications for consideration in the Final Round of offers until midnight (Sydney Eastern Daylight Time) on Thursday 4 February 2010. Please note that some institutions do not expect to make any offers in the Final Round, but may accept late applications after the UAC closing date of 4 February for some courses.
